Once upon a time, some mice lived in a house. They lived under the floor, and in the wall, and on top of the cupboard. Everyday, the mice came out of their houses and found scraps of food to eat. But one day, a cat came to live in the house, too.